Eat drink and be merry

At Olwazini we subscribe to the adage that an army marches on its stomach. That is why we are committed to giving delicious dining experiences that suit all tastes and keep our Nedbank 'troops' well fed.

Our resident chef Shaun Rooney has been with Nedbank for 16 years, he has been in the catering industry for 31 years. Shaun started cooking when he was only eight years old. His mother was a passionate home baker who would stay up all night baking. His father also has a love for cooking, so the apple did not fall far from the tree.

All through Shaun's career he has stolen with his eyes and built himself up to executive chef. Shaun's passion for the industry has extended his entrepreneurial skills into the food truck industry and currently owns a food truck and a chilli sauce business.

All main meals are prepared by talented chefs and served, buffet style in the dining room at the Recreation Centre. Vegetarian options are included at the buffet.

Halaal and kosher meals are available on request and may be ordered at least five working days before your arrival. If you have any other catering requirements, please notify us when booking your stay.

Breakfast is only available for overnight guests, unless specifically requested for day delegates when making a reservation.

Sterkfontein Caves

Within the Sterkfontein Caves, scientists have discovered many hominid and other animal fossils, dating back more than 4-million years, to the birth of humanity.

The most important and most famous of these fossils are 'Mrs Ples', a 2.1-million-year-old Australopithecus skull, and 'Little Foot', an almost complete Australopithecus skeleton that is more than 3-million years old.

These fossils, both found in the Sterkfontein Caves in the Cradle of Humankind, tell us much about the precursors of modern humans, Homo sapiens.

Archaeological finds within the Cradle of Humankind also include 2-million-year-old stone tools. The oldest recorded, at Swartkrans, near the Sterkfontein Caves, is a collection of 270 burnt bones that reveals how our ancestors learned to master fire more than 1-million years ago – a significant development and an early technological innovation.

The ability to do this has taken us from the basic skills needed to keep ourselves warm and to cook our food, to being able to control and harness the power of fire to the extent that we can now create and burn rocket fuel to reach space and beyond.

Old Kromdraai Gold Mine

Kromdraai was ahead of the Johannesburg gold rush. A certain Johannes Stephanus Minnaar first discovered gold on a farm here in 1881, although the site was only proclaimed a mine in 1885. At that time there were many mines in the area and Kromdraai was one of the most productive, yielding about 25 grams of gold per ton of ore. Miners back then had to work by candlelight without shoes or helmets.

Donkeys were used to pull carts of ore along tracks snaking through the tunnels until they reached the outside. On a guided tour of the old mine tunnel visitors learn about these old-fashioned methods of mining and can view the remaining evidence of the great amounts of dynamite which were used to blast the tunnels, while walking along the mine's old 'coco-pan' tracks.

The mine is entered via a large hole in the side of a hill and the tour lasts one hour, including a fascinating introductory talk by a guide explaining the area's gold mining history.

The Kromdraai Gold Mine offers insights into how Gauteng was built and is a historical point of interest in Johannesburg tourism.

Olwazini teambuilding (continue)
